THE ADVENTURER

BY

Lloyd Osbourne

Illustrated. 12mo, ornamental cloth, $1.50

This novel got a big running start as a serial in Everybody's Magazine. It made a hit there, with its quick clutch and firm grip on the interest. It is a story of a ship on wheels with a crew lustful of adventure—and getting it. The author collaborated with Robert Louis Stevenson in three of his most famous works. In this he shows himself able to stand alone. It is literature.

ENTITLED

The CRIMSON CONQUEST

A Brilliant Tale of the Period of Pizarro's Conquest of the Incas

In dignity of treatment "THE CRIMSON CONQUEST" is not unlike Gen. Lew Wallace's "The Fair God." It is in many ways the most distinctive book of fiction we have ever published. It will have the approval of an increasing class of readers who demand something more than the average novel offers.

The demand for our Teddy Bears Books has been so great that for over two months we were at all times from 100,000 to 200,000 behind our orders, but at this writing we are nearly abreast of the demand. However, we are in receipt of daily orders for about as many of them as we can make and ship.

These little books are printed throughout in three colors, so that the press work is necessarily slow and it will not be possible to make an edition late in the season; therefore, we urge our customers to anticipate their requirements as much as possible and place their orders at once. This will prevent disappointment when the holiday season is on.

and what people are saying about it

"The characters in this novel appeal to us with an intensity that causes us to rank 'Three Weeks' with 'The Visits of Elizabeth,' as an example of the most brilliant in twentieth-century fiction."

—The Baltimore Sun.

"An extraordinary romance."

"No wonder that 'Three Weeks' is one of the best sellers."—The Detroit Free Press.

"Mrs. Glyn has never written before with anything like such poetic sentiment or such admirable descriptive power. Readers who can tolerate a defiance of the conventions will find 'Three Weeks' a dainty romance."—The London Times (Eng.)

PUTNAM'S NEW BOOKS

BY THE AUTHOR OF "LAVENDER AND OLD LACE"

The Love Affairs of Literary Men

By MYRTLE REED

Author of "A Spinner in the Sun," "The Master's Violin," etc.

Crown 8vo, with 18 Portraits printed in colors. Price $1.50 net. Full Red Leather, $2.00 net. Antique Calf, $2.50 net. Lavender Silk, $3.50 net.

Miss Reed has briefly retold the stories of the lovers of the group of writers who are assured, all of them, of immortal places in English literature. Here we may read of the mysterious, double love affair of Swift with Stella and Vanessa, of Pope's almost grotesque attempts at the role of lover, of Dr. Johnson's ponderous affections, of Sterne's sentimental philanderings, of Cowper's, Shelley's, Keats', and Poe's relations with the fair sex.

By ARTHUR CHRISTOPHER BENSON

The Altar Fire

Crown 8vo. Net $1.50

Like those keenly appreciated works, The Upton Letters, Beside Still Waters and From a College Window, Mr. Benson's new book may confidently be expected to find its way into the hands of discriminating readers. The essential charm of Mr. Benson's writings arises from the fact that their author is a thinker and a man of cultivated taste and at home in an academic environment.

Earlier Books by Mr. Benson

Beside Still Waters, From a College Window, The Upton Letters

Three volumes. Crown 8vo. Each, net, $1.25. Four volumes in a box, net, $5.00.

The Folk Afield

By EDEN PHILLPOTTS

Author of "Children of the Flit," "Sons of the Morning."

Crown 8vo, $1.50.

The variety that characterizes these stories is one of both scene and character, containing stories of love and adventure on sea and land. Mr. Phillpotts' heroines are singularly attractive, now by their beauty and their ardor, now by their gentleness and purity.

Little Journeys NEW SERIES

By ELBERT HUBBARD

Two volumes, 8vo, with Photogravure Illustrations. Each $2.50. Uniform with Little Journeys to the Homes of Eminent Musicians.

To the Homes of Eminent Artists

CONTENTS: Raphael, Botticelli, Leonardo da Vinci, Thorwaldsen, Gainsborough, Velasquez, Corot, Correggio, Paul Veronese, Cellini, Whistler.

To the Homes of Eminent Orators

CONTENTS: Pericles, Mark Antony, Savonarola, Luther, Burke, William Pitt Marat, Ingersoll, Patrick Henry, Thomas S. King, Henry Ward Beecher, Wendell Phillips.

"The series is well conceived and excellently sustained. The most captious critic could not suggest an improvement. Never was there more satisfactory packing, in more attractive shape, of matter worth at least ten times the money."—Buffalo Commercial.

The Princess Nadine

By CHRISTIAN REID

Author of "The Man of the Family," "The Chase of an Heiress," etc.

Crown 8vo Probable Price, net, $1.25.

A lively and dramatic story, with many effective love passages, and as for the manner in which it is written, the author's earlier book, "The Man of the Family," is a guarantee that the style is graceful, picturesque, brisk, sparkling and witty, as the occasion demands.

MONEY AND INVESTMENTS

By MONTGOMERY ROLLINS

Author of "Government Bond Values Tables," "Laws Regulating Investment of Bank Funds," "The Montgomery Cypher Code," etc.

A MANUAL of expert reliable information on the vitally important subject of money and investment, which touches us all. The reasons for its publication are apparent. There has not been previously any single comprehensive work of value in aiding one to an understanding of the many intricate expressions and terms of the financial world. Other attempts in this line have been made, either by dealers desirous of selling their own specialties, or by financial writers treating their subjects on the assumption that their readers are possessed of a knowledge of finance and familiar with its technical vocabulary.

It has long been the belief of many that there is need of an accurate, disinterested, fundamental work in which the beginner in the handling of money may seek assistance in unravelling the mysteries of expressions of Wall and State Streets. Such a work is now offered the public and the publishers are confident it meets the essential requirements above outlined.

Miss Zona Gale's new novel

The Loves of Pelleas and Etarre

Pelleas and Etarre have been incorrigibly in love for fifty years or so; and at golden wedding time have found married life so happy that they are become, quite frankly, inveterate match-makers of a most guileless, lovable sort. The book is made up of the adventures of these charming old people, furtively conspiring for the furtherance of some romance or other, though conscious of the wickedness of challenging the maxims of the prudent. Its whole atmosphere is one of dainty grace; its charm is very unusual—half whimsical and humorous, half gracefully serious—wholly delightful.

NOTES IN SEASON.

DANA ESTES & Co. have just ready a work on "Money and Investments," by Montgomery Rollins, author of "Government Bond Values," etc., a manual of expert information.

HENRY HOLT & Co. will publish on the 12th inst. "Gunhild, an American-Norwegian Episode," the first novel by Dorothy Canfield, daughter of the Librarian of Columbia University.

BRENTANO'S will bring out at once "Lucy Gort, a study in temperament," a novel by Claude and Alice Askew, authors of "The Shulamite;" also, "Bach," by Rutland Boughton, a new volume in the Music of the Masters series.

JOHN LANE COMPANY have just ready "The True Story of My Life," the autobiography of Alice M. Diehl, the noted English novelist, writer and musician, which contains intimate descriptions and anecdotes of Sir Henry Irving, Jenny Lind, Berlioz, Browning, Bret Harte and many other famous authors, musicians and well-known characters.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have just ready Miss Zona Gale's new novel, "The Loves of Pelleas and Etarre," the principal characters of which having been incorrigibly in love for fifty years or more have become inveterate match makers of a most guileless lovable sort. The atmosphere that pervades the book is one of dainty grace, half whimsical and humorous, half gracefully serious.

A. C. McCLURG & Co. have just ready "The Crimson Conquest," the first novel written by Charles Bradford Hudson, son of Dr. Thomson Jay Hudson, author of "The Law of Psychic Phenomena," etc. The novel deals with the period of Pizarro's conquest of the Incas, and in dignity of treatment is not unlike General Lew Wallace's "The Fair God." The book has a frontispiece in colors and a cover design by J. C. Leyendecker.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will publish on the 12th inst. "Days Off," by Henry Van Dyke, an entirely new book of stories and writings on out-of-door life, as full of the charm and feeling, the understanding of the woods and the exquisite skill in expressing it as were the author's former books, "Fisherman's Luck" and "Little Rivers," with the form and make-up of which the new book is identic. They will bring out on the 19th inst. Edith Wharton's latest novel, "The Fruit of the Tree," a work of surprising power that held the breathless attention of its readers during its serial publication in Scribner's. Alonzo Kimball has made some spirited illustrations for the book.

D. APPLETON & Co. have just ready "The Adventurer," by Lloyd Osbourne, who collaborated with his stepfather, Robert Louis Stevenson, in three of his most famous works, but who has already proved himself able to stand alone. His new book tells the story of a ship on wheels with a crew lustful of adventure—and getting it. They have also just brought out "The Tents of Wickedness," by Miriam Coles Harris, author of "Rutledge," one of the sensations of fifty years ago. In her new book the venerable author draws a picture of so-called "smart society" in New York as seen through the eyes of an American girl brought up in a French convent. Roman Catholic beliefs are woven through the book, and it is from the standpoint of this church that many of the discussions regarding divorce are carried on.

A young, rich American girl, after travelling all over the world with a father addicted to periodical dipsomania, loses this father, and before returning to her California chicken ranch goes to visit her English relatives. Her cousin is in the House of Commons, but suddenly becoming a peer is forced into the House of Lords. He decides to go to America. The story deals with American politics and especially with the conditions in San Francisco. The great earthquake and fire of 1906 bring about changes in the lives of the chief actors. The story ends while the fire is still raging.

Two quite opposite characters claim the attention in this story for girls from ten to sixteen. Anne is a gentle, tender little thing, full of love and sympathy for every one; Judy, at fourteen, "hates" everything proposed for her amusement, and has a fiery, uncontrolled temper. Both children live with their grandparents and are thrown much together, Anne having a good influence on Judy's character. Judy's father, supposed to have been lost at sea, returns after four years' absence. There is a manly young fellow who also helps Judy work out her life problems.

Bancroft, Laura. Policeman Bluejay; il. by Maginel Wright Enright. Chic., Reilly & Britton Co., [1907.] c. 115 p. O. cl., $1.

The birds and bird-life of Fairyland are the subjects of this new "Twinkle" book. The tale is fantastical and intended to amuse rather than instruct, yet many of the traits of the feathered folk described are in strict accordance with natural history teachings, and will serve to acquaint little readers with the habits of birds in their wildwood homes. Twinkle and Chubbins are again the chief characters. Illustrated partly in color.

The time is during the American Revolution, the story opening in 1782 with a sea-fight between an American merchantship, the "Hiram and Susan," and a British frigate. The American ship is a rich prize, her cargo consisting of ammunition for Washington and French gold for the revolutionists. The heroine is as good a sailor as her father, who is the owner of the "Hiram and Susan." She has lived on the ship all her life, and can handle a pistol or sword as well as a man. Her father is killed in the fight and the ship is captured, a young English lieutenant being put in charge of her. He falls deeply in love with Susan Hubbell, a most romantic sequence of events ensuing.

The third in the series of fairy tales begun with "Queen Silverbell" and followed by "Racketty-Packetty House." It tells of a handsome lion who yearned for "society" or companionship. Queen Silverbell relates how she reformed him, that is, brought to an end his consumption of human flesh, for which she substitutes breakfast foods. He is then introduced into "society" and becomes a "cozy lion," and has splendid times with the youngsters of the village.

A marriage between pretty Rosy Vanderpoel, the daughter of a New York millionaire, and a mercenary Englishman of title is the starting point of a story of international interest. For many years the girl is utterly lost to her family until her younger sister Bettina, grown to beautiful young womanhood, determines to discover her. She finds her broken in spirit and neglected by her brutal husband. Many dramatic scenes follow, illustrating the strong character and wonderful charm of Bettina and interwoven is the story of her own romance. "The shuttle" has been a serial in The Century during the present year.

Aside from the prominent part she played, no woman of the French Revolution possesses a more interesting personality than Adrienne de Noailles. Young and enthusiastic, she encouraged in Lafayette those republican tendencies which cost them at a later date so dearly. Stifling her heartache, she sped the husband on that hazardous voyage across distant seas to aid the great cause of liberty in far off America—a land, as her quaint letters to Washington show, she always loved. Material for this biography is drawn largely from memoirs and letters. There are fifteen pages of notes. List of works consulted (3 p.). Index.

These volumes are not intended to take the place of guidebooks, but to present the monuments, pictures, churches, etc., from the point of view of the artist and also that of the student of human nature. Enough historical tradition is given to enable the traveller to create a suitable background of local color. Well bound and have numerous half-tone illustrations reproduced from photographs. Indexed.

Curtis, Natalie, ed. The Indians' book: an offering by the American Indians of Indian lore, musical and narrative, to form a record of the songs and legends of their race; recorded and ed. by Natalie Curtis; il. from photographs and from original drawings by Indians. N. Y., Harper, 1907. c. 30+572 p. pls. (partly col.) facsim., Q. cl., $7.50 net, boxed.

Miss Curtis journeyed by rail, by wagon, by horse, over prairie and desert, seeking the Indians and gaining their friendship. This book is literally the "Indians' book," all the songs, stories and drawings having been contributed by the Indians themselves, Miss Curtis merely acting as their transcriber. Divided into chapters or sections devoted to the various tribes—those of the Eastern Indians, the Lake, the Northwestern, Southwestern, and Pueblo Indians. Songs with music are preceded by explanatory descriptions; and by means of a careful index reference is made to interlinear translations in the appendix. Foreword is written by Hiamovi, chief among the Cheyennes and Dakotas, addressed to the Great Chief at Washington, and there is a facsimile letter from the President.

There are seven stories in all: "Vasilisa the beautiful," "The bright-hawk's feather," "Ivan and the gray wolf," "The little sister and little brother," "The white duckling," "Marya Morevna," and "The frog queen." They are accompanied by sixteen full-page drawings and an elaborate cover design.

Douglas, Amanda Minnie. A little girl in old Baltimore. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1907. c. 344 p. D. ("Little girl" ser.) cl., *$1.50. The twelfth volume in the "Little girl" series. The story is told in a quaint, childish way in the beginning by Betty Levering, the only child of Giles Levering by a second marriage. She is rather looked down upon by two older girls, because her mother came over in a company of maids who hoped to get husbands in the new country. Her father has a fine plantation some twenty-five miles above Baltimore, but is carrying on some shipping business and is much interested in the advance of Baltimore town, which is slowly emerging from chaos. Betty has a loyal boy friend, whose father, about whom there was some mystery, had been hired out as a redemptioner.

Doyle, Mrs. Martha Claire MacGowan. ["Martha James," pseud.] The boys of Pigeon Camp, their luck and fun; il. by J. W. Kennedy. Bost., Lothrop, Lee & Shepard Co., [1907.] c. 224 p. D. (Pigeon Camp ser.) cl., *$1.25.

A story for boys of ten and twelve. The second volume in the "Pigeon Camp series," begun last year with "Jimmie Suter." The three friends brought together in that story camp for the summer in a fine tent on the shore of a lake and are caretakers for a vacant home. Jimmie Suter's mechanical ingenuity again comes into play in the shape of a home-made house-boat which he constructs, and in which the boys spend many happy hours.

Two-thirds of the book is filled by a story founded mostly on facts. The writer's purpose has been to supply a book that would introduce to the outside world a comparatively unknown section of this country.

Duncan, Rob. Kennedy. The chemistry of commerce: a simple interpretation of some new chemistry in its relation to modern industry. N. Y., Harper, 1907. c. '05, '06, '07. 14+263 p. il. pls. diagrs., O. cl., $2 net.

The author is professor of industrial chemistry at the University of Kansas; he has also written "The new knowledge." Prof. Duncan was sent abroad by the Harpers to interview personally the great leaders and discoverers along the lines of practical chemistry, and to watch the most modern processes in practical operation. He visited the principal laboratories and the most prominent scientists in Germany, France and England, and his researches are set forth in this book. Incidentally, the book strikes a note of warning in showing how much further advanced Europe is than America in the practical application of chemistry to industrial needs. The author is a practical chemist in addition to being a thorough student of science.

Each chapter discusses theoretical considerations, illustrated by designs of machines. Chapter of examples. Index.

Edwards, Alba M. The labor legislation of Connecticut. [N. Y., published for the American Economic Association by Macmillan, 1907.] c. 8+322 p. O. (Publications of the American Economic Association.) pap., $1.

"In this study the purpose has been to discuss the labor legislation of Connecticut historically and critically, and, so far as possible, to trace the economic effects of the different laws. The aim has been to treat only those laws which belong to the industrial period in Connecticut—those which have been enacted since the rise of the factory system and the industrial, wage-working class. Few of these laws antedate the year 1842. The laws of the colonial period, many of which extend far over into this period, are not discussed."—Preface.

The compiler is the famous chef of the Carlton and Ritz Hotels of London. The recipes, numbering nearly three thousand, are either his own "creations" which have laid the basis of his personal reputation, or have been gathered by him from many sources and successfully used in his long career of thirty years as a chef. The book is thoroughly practical in all its directions and has a scientific basis which makes it valuable not only to the chef of a great hotel or of a millionaire, but to the small housekeeper of limited means. The titles of the recipes are given in French to aid in the writing of menus, but the index gives the titles in English, with the numbers of the recipes. About 20 pages of menus at the end. Glossary (4 p.).

A group of boys become interested in some flint arrow-heads and other relics of the past. To satisfy their curiosity an uncle takes them on excursions to the site of ancient cave dwellings; but better still he tells them the story of "Tig," a little boy of the very long ago who was born among the most savage surroundings, yet who found a great deal of joy in life despite that fact. Many glimpses are given of home and tribal life, and of manners, customs, weapons, and implements of our ancestors clothed in shaggy skins.

Harris, Mrs. Miriam Coles. The tents of wickedness. N. Y., Appleton, 1907. c. 3-474 p. front. D. cl., †$1.50.

By the author of "Rutledge." The young heroine is a motherless American girl, who has been educated at a French convent and as a Catholic, according to her father's promise to her dead mother. She returns to New York to take her place in society, utterly ignorant of the world and innocent as a child. Her father, absorbed in business or pleasure, sees little of her, and she is left to struggle alone with the problems of her environment. She is shocked at the flippancy and wickedness of the so-called "smart" set, and is a most unhappy girl until she finds a real friend among her father's friends. The doctrines of the Church of Rome have been woven into the story, but not in a way to prove objectionable to Protestants.

Hawkins, Anthony Hope, ["Anthony Hope," pseud.] Helena's path. N. Y., McClure Co., 1907. c. 3-241 p. front. D. cl., †$1.50.

Lord Lynborough, with a peerage and £40,000 a year, turned out an original, erratic individual, who tried reforms of all kinds and worked with "Theophilanthropists" for a time. After his father's death he goes to live upon his English estates. "Helena's path" led to a bathing-beach, and the Lynboroughs had always had right of way. The Marchesa Helena closed it, and Lord Lynborough trespassed by continuing to use it. He won over all the people of her establishment, entertained them on his grounds, and finally Lady Helena also succumbed to the fascinations of the very odd Lord Lynborough.

The story of Colonel Higginson's grandfather, who was a member of the Continental Congress in 1773, and one of the founders of the American Navy. He is also known for his authorship of the "Laco letters" (1789), in which he sharply criticised John Hancock. He was one of the first American ship-masters called upon to testify on colonial matters before the British Parliament, and was active in the suppression of Shay's Rebellion. He was a liberal-minded Federalist, though an ardent supporter of the movement for a strong government. The work gives a delightful account of social, political, and commercial New England from 1775 to 1830.

The region covered by the Handbook is that lying north of the northern boundaries of N. C., Tenn.,

Ark. and Okla., east of the Rocky Mountains, extending southward in the Appalachian Region to northern Ala. and Ga. The work represents several years of study, field-work, and experiment. The author is constantly in the field gathering the woods used in the publishing of his "American woods," and on the spot he has consummated the elaborate plan of the Handbook. Its illustrations, all from photographs, cover the subject in these exclusive particulars: They are photographed on a measured background, ruled into square inches, a satisfactory way of indicating size, owing to the great range of sizes, which must show in plates of uniform size. Thus appear leaves and fruits, leafless twigs in winter, typical barks of trees, and wood structure of at least one species of each genus. Maps also appear indicating the area of country over which a tree grows. Contains analytical key, glossary and index, in which varieties of type make information clear at a glance.

"The country school" and "The farmer's boy" that follows are companion volumes, which reflect a faithful picture of conditions of life in the "old-fashioned days" of the last century. Dealing as they do with boy and girl life they may be considered as two chapters of a single story. The place the author had especially in mind in describing school conditions early in the last century is a village among the hills of western Massachusetts. Both books illustrate life in New England of many years ago, and are richly illustrated from photographs.

"English works on the subject of the German Minnesong are so scanty in number and inadequate in character that an addition to them can hardly be considered superfluous. That which I offer in the present little volume, slight and incomplete as it is, has yet, I believe, a wider scope than anything of the sort hitherto published in this country. My object has been to present English readers with a selection from Minnesong sufficiently varied and extensive to illustrate roughly the nature and range of the art and indicate the main lines of its development."—Translator's Preface. An introduction gives an account of the original nature of the Minnesong. Collection numbers over 150 poems. Bibliographical note (5 p.).

Ollivant, Alfred. Redcoat Captain: a story of That Country; illuminated by Graham Robertson. N. Y., Macmillan, 1907. c. 200 p. D. cl., $1.50.

"That Country" is the Land-where-you-never-grow-old—so long, that is, as you are good and loving. This is really a new "Wonderland," through which the Redcoat Captain and the daughter of the merry lady who lived among the rooks wander as man and wife, she aged between ten and twenty, he a little older. Many cheerful things come to them, and the author says many critical things about the world outside "That Country." Children may understand it if read to them, and older children will find many happy thoughts on many things that must be changed when all are "good and loving."

Orr, Ja, D.D. The Virgin birth of Christ: being lectures delivered under the auspices of the Bible Teachers' Training School, New York, April, 1907; with appendix, giving opinions of living scholars. N. Y., Scribner, 1907. c. 14+301 p. D. cl., $1.50 net.

Eight lectures by the professor of apologetics and systematic theology in the United Free Church College, Glasgow, Scotland. They aim "to establish faith in the miracle of the Lord's Incarnation by birth from the Virgin, to meet objections and to show the intimate connection of fact and doctrine in this transcendent mystery." The appendix summarizes papers that came into the author's hands after his work was completed. They are by Dr. William Sanday, Rev. William E. Addis, Dr. W. H. Griffith-Thomas, of Oxford; Sir William M. Ramsay, Dr. Henry Cowan, of Aberdeen, Scotland; Rev. George Box, Dr. R. J. Knowling, Dr. A. E. Garvie, Rev. H. Wheeler Robinson, Dr. H. C. G. A typical story of New York City and life in flats, taken and vacated by parents and two children who aim to get comfort and space. Later they try a New York suburb and become commuters, people that rush for trains, carry home their goods and chattels, shovel their own snow, cannot keep servants, etc., but pay a little less fare for these privileges than those who do not travel every day. All the well-known conditions are described with good-natured humor.

Author is editor of Suggestion, a magazine of the new psychology. These articles appeared in that periodical in 1903 and 1904, but are so often called for that they have been reissued in book form. The author demonstrates that all the phenomena of Christian Science, magnetic healing, divine science, mental science, sacred shrines, absent treatment, success circles, etc., are due to auto-suggestion.

Peile, Rev. Ja. H. F. The reproach of the gospel: an inquiry into the apparent failure of Christianity as a general rule of life and conduct, with special reference to the present time; being the Bampton lectures for the year 1907. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1907. 23+199 p. O. cl., $1.80 net.

Series of eight divinity lectures delivered last spring in St. Mary's Church, Oxford, by a Fellow and praelector of University College, Oxford, examining chaplain to the Bishop of Worcester. His plan is to inquire, first, whether Christianity has failed as we suppose; and then, what is the effect of this apparent failure on the actual everyday thought and action of the masses of the human race. The inquiry looks chiefly at the deliberate and systematic disregard of Christ's moral teaching by professed Christians. The several lecture headings are: The facts, The historic basis of Christian belief, The spiritual need of humanity, War and trade, Social questions, Anarchy not the cure, Christianity a revolutionary force, Some practical considerations.

The third volume of the "Sidney books" has its scene first in Heatherleigh, the summer home of the Argyle family, and afterward in New York. Many of the characters that appeared in "Sidney, her summer on the St. Lawrence" and "Janet, her winter in Quebec" again play interesting parts. Before going to college Day is allowed to spend a winter in her home in New York, where she cultivates the acquaintance of Sidney Stayre and her younger sister Phyllis. Bob Argyle and Jack Blanchard make things lively for the girls, and there are many interesting events.

Rules for poker, good recipes for sandwiches and salads and mixed drinks, interspersed with genuine fun in the way of laughable phrases and appropriate pictures in brilliant reds and blues.

Rice, Mrs. Alice Caldwell Hegan, [formerly Alice Caldwell Hegan.] Captain June; with pictures by C. D. Weldon. N. Y., Century Co., 1907. c. '06, '07. 120 p. sq. D. cl., $1.

"June" is short for Robert Rogers Royston, Junior, a dear little American boy, who, with his mother and Japanese nurse, sail from California to Yokohama to meet his father, a captain in the United States Army in the Philippines. On arriving there they find a message that he is down with fever, and June's mother goes on to the Philippines to nurse him, leaving the boy with the Japanese nurse in her home. His experiences with Japanese life and customs are most amusing. This is the first book for children written by the author of "Mrs. Wiggs of the cabbage patch."

Rich, Walter H. Feathered game of the northeast; il. by the author. N. Y., Thomas Y. Crowell & Co., [1907.] c. 16+432 p. col. front. pls. O. cl., $3 net.

Some ninety birds are carefully described and located, nearly all of them being illustrated in full-page half-tones. The writer is a practical sportsman—one who has hunted nearly every bird he describes in New England. While primarily a sportsman's book, it is at the same time one which is interesting both to the general reader and the professional ornithologist. Many hunting yarns and bits of outdoor wisdom are woven in the narrative.

Tells of the trip during the winter of 1900-'01 of the S.S. "Burnside" while laying the American cable between the islands of the Philippine group. Aside from the Signal Corps officers, soldiers, crew and servants aboard, there were two women passengers and a little girl—"two and a half women." Book contains the observations of one of these passengers of native customs on the islands where the boat touched, as well as records incidents of the voyage and describes the tropical scenery. Illustrated by many half-tone reproductions of photographs. Index. By the author of "Born to the blue."

Silberrad, Una Lucy. The good comrade; il. by Anna Whelan Betts. N. Y., Doubleday, Page & Co., 1907. c. 7+365 p. col. front. D. cl., *$1.50.

The Polkingtons were a family of "reduced" gentlewomen who struggled hard to keep up appearances and to seem beyond need of work. One daughter, Julia, breaks away from family tradition; she is a born manager, and goes to Holland and takes position as housekeeper with relatives. Her uncle has made a fortune out of a blue daffodil and she wishes to learn the secret of its grafting. The descriptions of Dutch life and the place Julia makes for herself by her high ideals and warm sympathy are woven into a pretty love story. Julia is good comrade to many. She succeeds with her daffodil and also calls that "the good comrade." Her love story all hinges around that streaked blue daffodil.

First named writer is author of "An enemy to the king." Lord Eastcourt, after five years wandering on the continent, returns to his native England to be confronted with the fact that he is a beggar, a dishonest steward having squandered all his estate. While telling his story to a party of wild friends over a bowl of punch he is led into a bet that it is possible for him to successfully turn "highwayman." The time of the story is the mid-Georgian period, when a wild escapade of this kind was not unusual. His first "hold-up" is the coach of Clementina, a beautiful girl with whom he is fascinated. His endeavors to extricate himself from the ensuing complications are not without a humorous side.

The author of "Nineveh, and other poems" places the scene of a remarkable tale in an apartment house overlooking the Riverside Drive, New York City. It is the home of Reginald Clark, who poses to the world as a genius. It is shown that he is a literary vampire, absorbing by some unexplainable method the unborn creations of the brains of his intimate friends—men who have written books and who are contemplating others. His victims share his apartment until he has no further use for them, when they are turned out "gibbering idiots." Said to be a symbolic story.

In eight chapters Barrett Wendell, professor of English at Harvard University, and first lecturer on the Hyde Foundation at the Sorbonne and other French universities, sets forth the impressions of France made on him during the year when he was a lecturer there. The chapters were given in substantially their present form at the Lowell Institute, Boston, in 1906, and four of them have been published in Scribner's Magazine during 1907. The subjects are: The universities; The structure of society; The family; The French temperament; The relation of literature to life; The question of religion; The Revolution and its effects; The Republic and democracy.

Wesselhoeft, Mrs. Elizabeth Foster Pope, [Lily F. Wesselhoeft.] The diamond king and the little man in gray; il. from drawings by Clara E. Atwood. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1907. c. 8+255 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

The story of a little girl named Elsie, who had lived in Germany until she was eight years old and had learned to believe implicitly in Santa Claus and the Christ-child. When she comes back to America her playmates laugh at her innocent faith in fairies and fairyland. Christmas Eve on passing behind the Christmas tree she discovers a wide passageway, which she enters and is really brought into fairyland, where she meets elves and gnomes and giants, and the jolly diamond king and the little man in gray, and has the most wonderful adventures. By the author of "Ready, the reliable" and other juveniles.

Wiggin, Kate Douglas Smith, [now Mrs. G. Christopher Riggs,] and Smith, Nora Archibald, eds. Pinafore Palace: a book of rhymes for the nursery. N. Y., McClure Co., 1907. c. 10+249 p. D. (McClure's lib. of children's classics.) cl., $1.50.

A collection of nursery rhymes for the use of the very littlest readers, just as "The posy ring" was designed for children a little older, and "Golden numbers" for their brothers and sisters who are beginning to grow up and to prepare for school and college. The editors have, as in the case of their former issues, gone through the entire field of available material and drawn upon many sources that are remote or inaccessible for the general reader.

A few months after the death of his father, who had been banished from Spain, his son, aged twenty-one, longed to see Spain. It was at the time when the young Spanish king went to Biarritz to receive his young English bride. The hero and his friend go motoring in Spain. They meet royalty and witness all the great ceremonies. Circumstances make it possible for the travellers to help the king, and the king does likewise when the father's record as a liberal affects the son. The descriptions of natural scenery, buildings and manners and customs in Spain make a background for a lively little romance.

Young, Alexander Bell Filson. The Wagner stories; told by Filson Young. N. Y., McClure Co., 1907. c. 3+304 p. D. cl., $1.30 net.

Contains the stories of "The flying Dutchman," "Tannhäuser," "Lohengrin," "Tristan and Isolde," "The mastersingers," "The trilogy of the Nibelung ring," and "Parsifal." The author has made a reputation as a writer, and has given many years to the study of music. His book is intended as an introduction to Wagner's operas, and is addressed primarily to the lay mind. The metrical translations into English verse of the lyrical passages from the operas have been made by Mr. Young's friend, Eric Maclagen. A chronology of Wagner completes the volume. By the author of "Christopher Columbus," "The mastersingers," etc.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. J. KYPOLDT.

OCTOBER 5, 1907.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers and librarians depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalog," and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

KEEPING THE HOME TRADE.

RECENTLY a number of Western retail merchants combined to start a movement to break up the competition of some of the larger mail-order houses doing business in their territory. A number of senseless and impotent propositions were made among which the least silly was the one to lure mail-order houses into sending their catalogues and quantities of other advertising matter to people who have no idea of buying, but answer advertisements in order to make the mail-order people waste their ammunition. After considerable agitation better judgment seems to have prevailed, as little or nothing has further been heard of the movement.

In these days of rapid transit, widely distributed newspapers, cheap freight and express charges and postal facilities, and of a general tendency on the part of the large concerns to play out all kinds of tempting bait in order to catch the little customers, the problem how to keep the trade at home is, naturally, one of the most pressing of the difficulties that at present beset the retailer, and that will trouble him for many years to come.

Not only the dealers in the smaller towns are compelled to cope with this difficulty, but the more important dealers in the large cities as well. Even retailers in New York and Boston find that some of their customers go to Europe for a portion of their books as well as for other supplies, or, tempted by offers through the mails from dealers in other cities, leave the home trade, to deal elsewhere. A part of the trade in small cities goes to the larger cities, that of towns to cities, and villagers are often induced to go to neighboring towns. So a retailer in a small town need not necessarily feel discouraged if he cannot hold all his trade at home, because the better-equipped large city competition is often no better off in this respect.

But the enterprising local dealer should have no difficulty in retaining a large portion of the home trade. The buying of books is a habit that the local dealer must learn to feed and cultivate. In every village and town there are from one to half a dozen book-buying customers whose tastes the bookseller must train himself to study and to quicken. There is no place so small that it does not support a doctor, a clergyman, a lawyer, or a teacher, if not all four; these need books and will often buy them if properly catered to. Even if these study the papers and the catalogues from out-of-town dealers they may often have their attention called to a special book which may take their fancy, and which if the dealer is wide-awake they may be tempted to buy. If the bookstore be made attractive and the stock kept up to date, so far as the limits of the bookseller's capital will permit, even these few customers, if well served, may form the basis of a profitable business.

In any case the local bookseller should impress his constituency with the risk of dissatisfaction when buying books unseen, which in most cases cannot be exchanged, or at least not without the loss of considerable time and money; whereas, at home books can be looked over at leisure and a proper idea of their merits formed, and the price would very likely be the same. Such a course would be more rational and convincing than an appeal to local pride, because when buyers can make a dollar go further in a mail-order house than at home, local pride takes a back seat every time. And so with the remainder of his stock. Let the home bookseller satisfy his constituency that he is able to serve them more intelligently and just as economically as they can be served abroad, and he may be able gradually to educate his customers to enlarge the extent of their dependence upon him.

If a man makes a hobby of his business and bestows enough persistency upon it, he generally achieves a degree of success which the unthinking, determined to account for it in some way, ascribe to luck.

THE PRODUCTS OF THE PRESS.

IN a recent issue of Printing Art is an article by Henry Turner Bailey, entitled "Analysis of Modern Printing." This is not, as might be imagined, a description of the intricate routine which results in the printed page, but rather a discussion of the results attained by men, machines, and methods in this industry. "Do you realize," asks Mr. Bailey, "the amount of work all these men and machines turn out? Last year they produced a newspaper, daily, for each family of four persons in the United States, a weekly periodical for each couple, and a monthly magazine for each individual. They produced a total of 75,080,000,000 copies—230,000,000 a day; almost 10,000,000 per hour, or 160,000 per minute, or 2600 per second, every second of the time called 1906. They produced besides 15,000 new books, averaging 150 pages each, in editions averaging 2000 copies; a total of 4,500,000,000 pages of reading matter—enough to give four books of 150 pages each to every man, woman and child in the United States. But besides all this, they turned out job printing by the cubic mile. It would exhaust the cipher box to tell how many separate sheets were printed. Suffice it to say that the estimated value of the total output of the printers of the country last year is $500,000,000."

The author considers newspapers as "conservative" or "aggressive," among the latter including the "yellows." A blow, always timely, at the yellow comic supplement, is worded in the statement "that all we can do in the public schools to develop in children a love of truth, a respect for the aged and for law, a belief in virtue and honor, reverence for womanhood and for the great spiritual realities, an enjoyment of beauty, and a refined taste for literature and art, is opposed, vitiated and sometimes, I am almost ready to say, nullified by the Sunday papers. In the Sunday papers impudence is praised, the bad boy is fortunate, the police are outwitted, the foreigner, the old, the law-abiding, the virtuous are held up to ridicule. The things we revere are made the butt of every coarse joke. The drawings are usually the grossest of caricatures, and the colors are brutally crude. The incidents recorded are said to be 'comic,' 'amusing,' 'funny.' They are not; they rather tend to destroy the power to appreciate genuine wit and humor." With all the wealth of folk-lore, literature, art and healthy juvenile applications of these, "there seems to be absolutely no excuse for the continuance of this stream of sewage in the Sunday papers." Mr. Bailey is anticipating the time when we shall see American newspapers of more convenient size, printed in larger type, which will "take pride in presenting the true, the beautiful and the good, truly, beautifully and effectively."

For the higher class American magazine the author has only praise, and this in particular is with justice directed at the illustrations. "The most famous artists of the day contribute illustrations which, having done duty as illustrations, are often carefully cut out, fastened to mounts of the right shape, size and tone, and skillfully framed pass partout. The illustrations become pictures. Many a humble home in our country is thus furnished with wall decorations far superior in artistic excellence to the tawdry hand-painted-gold-frame-thrown-in art of the department stores and the 'enlarged-hand-colored-double-mounted-machine-carved - framed artotypes-of-the-deceased,' sold by the highwaymen known as Agents for Art Photographers."

SONG COPYRIGHT AMONG THE OJIBWAYS.

"PRESENTATION of the Ojibway regard for music would be incomplete without some reference to the proprietary value they set on their songs," writes Frederick Burton, in the Craftsman. "The composer is the owner, and wherever ancient customs are still preserved no Indian ventures to sing a song that does not belong to his family. This view, I believe, is common to many tribes, perhaps all, but among the Ojibways the march of civilization has thrown down so many barriers that a great many of the old songs are now widely distributed."

"It is still a common experience for the investigator, however, to fail of getting a song he wants, because the Indian who sang it yesterday refuses to repeat it to-day, on the ground that it belongs to another, and if it is to be reduced to the white man's notes, that other's permission must be obtained. A general sense of proprietorship is also manifested in the extreme reluctance of the people to sing for the white man with his pencil and note paper."

"As one dusky friend explained to me: 'Our songs are the only thing left to us that are wholly Indian. You've taken away everything else that was ours, and now you want to rob us of our songs.'"

LECTURES ON ADVERTISING.

THE Bedford Branch of the Young Men's Christian Association of Brooklyn, N. Y., has arranged to give a practical course of twenty-five lessons in the principles and methods of successful advertising. The immediate supervision of the course is in charge of Charles F. Southard, manager of advertising for A. D. Matthews' Sons; Herbert F. Gunnison, business manager of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle; Desmond Dunne, president of the Desmond Dunne Advertising Agency, with Justin McCarthy, Jr., advertising manager of Abraham & Straus, as an advisory committee. These gentlemen will be assisted by such experts as J. H. Statter, advertising manager for R. H. Macy & Co.; H. Armstrong, of the Keystone Type Foundry; Manly M. Gillam, advertising advisor of the New York Herald; H. Kellogg, of the Kellogg Advertising Agency; B. T. Butterworth, advertising manager of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle, and others. The course will begin on October 15 and close April 14, 1908. The sessions will be held on Tuesday nights from 8 to 10 o'clock. The fee for any part will be $5, and for the complete course $15. Full information may be had by addressing R. P. Kaighn, Bedford Avenue and Monroe Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

DAVID MCKAY'S SILVER ANNIVERSARY.

TWENTY-FIVE years ago—on September 27, 1882—a sturdy Scotch lad of twenty-two struck out for himself in the book business in Philadelphia in a way that caused more than a ripple on the surface, and that has landed of his miscellaneous and old book business in order that he might devote his entire time to the law book business. McKay, by this time a thorough bookseller, conducted Welsh's business for about sixteen months, when a better position elsewhere was offered to him. Rees Welsh, when confronted with the announcement that he was

him in an enviable place among even the older and more successful houses in the publishing trade. That Scotch lad was David McKay, who, born in the town of Dysart, Scotland, June 24, 1860, came to this country with his parents in February, 1871. "Dave," as he is familiarly known to his many friends in and out of the trade, in 1873 entered the employ of J. B. Lippincott & Co., in those days one of the best training schools for young booksellers. In 1881, Rees Welsh induced McKay to take charge about to lose his able lieutenant, proposed that McKay take his business off his hands. After much deliberation the transfer was finally made, and on September 27, 1882, with five hundred dollars of his own and about $2500 borrowed money and notes, David McKay bought a seven thousand dollar stock and entered the ranks of the booktrade on his own account at 23 South Ninth Street, in Philadelphia. The next three years, until his notes had been redeemed and the borrowed money repaid, were perhaps the most uncomfortable ever lived through by Mr. McKay, because he didn't want "the other fellow to walk the floor o'nights" for fear he couldn't meet his notes.

McKay really began his publishing career while still associated with Rees Welsh & Co., by bringing out the edition of Walt Whitman's "Leaves of Grass," which James R. Osgood & Co. had thrown out because of threatened action by the Attorney-General of Massachusetts against the book on account of its alleged immorality. Besides the "Leaves of Grass" he also brought out a volume of Whitman's prose works under the title of "Specimen Days and Collect." The connection then formed by McKay with the poet resulted in a friendship that lasted until the death of Whitman.

In 1885 McKay made the first set of Shakespeare's works that formed the pioneer of a long line of the dramatist's collected works and single plays.

Three years later he took over the business of H. C. Watts & Co., increasing and strengthening his reprints of standard authors and special books suggested by the needs of his old book shop.

Early in 1896 McKay purchased the publishing plant of Charles De Silver & Sons, which added to his growing line a series of interlinear translations. This brought about the making of a line of literal translations, the first six of which were bought from the Penn Publishing Company. In the same year McKay absorbed the business of Edward Meeks, who had succeeded to the firm of E. Claxton & Co. This transaction brought into the McKay list a line of books on engineering and popular technical books which, with other industrial lines, has since made up a considerable part of the McKay catalogue.

The publishing business having grown to such a large extent as to demand the uninterrupted attention of its proprietor, McKay sold out his old book business to Leary's, and in October, 1896, removed his publishing business to 1022 Market Street.

Still the publishing business grew apace, and, when in February, 1903, McKay purchased the American branch of George Routledge & Sons, he discovered that his 180-foot loft on Market Street would not hold even a part of his stock. He therefore bought the property at 610 South Washington Square, which he had altered, and took possession of in November, 1904. He now occupies the entire building of three-and-a-half stories, with basement, with ample facilities for storing and shipping.

In December, 1905, McKay purchased from Street & Smith their cloth-bound line of juveniles, which helped to swell his list of copyright books for boys and girls to about 160 titles. McKay's catalogue lists upwards of seven hundred titles. It is a comprehensive list, including works in almost every department of literature—the American and the world's famous literature in popular and expensive editions, works of reference and dictionaries, besides the school and text books and the popular technical books already referred to. And the list grows steadily.

This, in a mere outline, traces the work of a single man in our profession during a generation—and creditable work it is throughout. Of the man it would perhaps suffice to describe him as of medium height, muscular and robust, always in excellent health, downright frank in his dealings with high and low, shrewd and quick to see a bargain, tireless and enterprising in marketing his books, and as equable in times of depression as he is in times of prosperity. While not exactly a sentimentalist, there is no one in the trade readier than "Dave" McKay to respond to the appeal of real need; and even in many cases where the appeal did not ring quite so true, McKay was apt to be the first to lend a hand; and it is characteristic of the man to add that with all his getting he has also accumulated a large asset in well wishers and many staunch friends. Of his family, including a worthy helpmate, a girl and four boys, McKay is as deservedly proud as he is of his business, which bids fair to outlast many generations to come.

WEIRD TITLES FOR DEVOTIONAL BOOKS.

"A MOST Delectable, Sweet Perfumed Nosegay for God's Saints to Smell At" is the title of a pamphlet published in 1626. Quaint titles were the rule in those times, and particularly in Puritan writings. Perhaps the sober-faced Roundheads liked sugar on their spiritual fare.

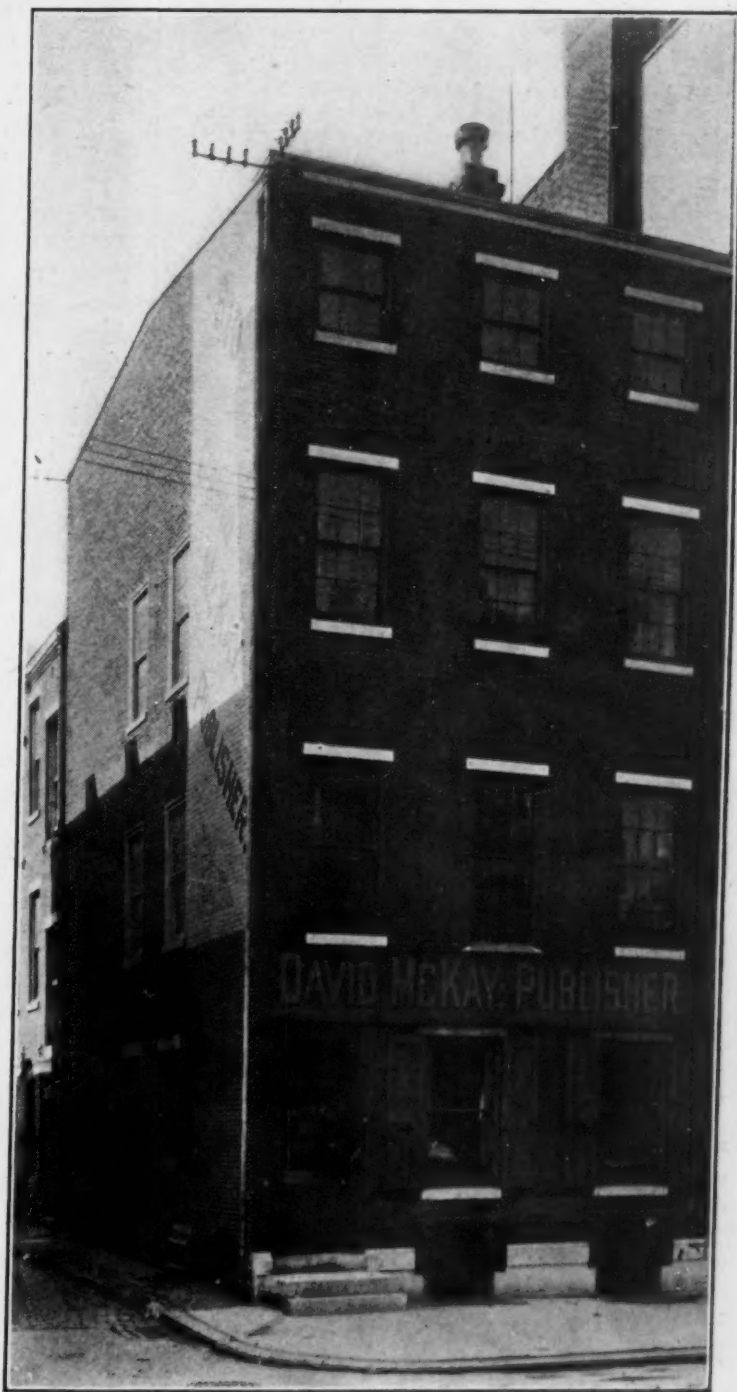

Another title of that period is "A Pair of Bellows to Blow Off the Dust Cast Upon John Fry," and another is "The Snuffers of Divine Love."

Cromwell's time was particularly famous for title-pages. A book on charity is "Hooks and Eyes for Believers' Breeches." We also find "High-Heeled Shoes for Dwarfs in Holiness," and "Crumbs of Comfort for the Chickens of the Covenant."

An imprisoned Quaker published "A Sigh for the Sinners of Zion Breathed Out of a Hole in the Wall of an Earthen Vessel, Known Among Men by the Name of Samuel Fish."

About the same time was also published "The Spiritual Mustard-Pot, to Make the Soul Sneeze With Devotion;" "Salvation's Vantage Ground of a Louping Stand for Heavenly Believers," and "A Shot Aimed at the Devil's Headquarters Through the Tube of the Cannon of the Covenant."

Then come "A Reaping Hook, Well Tempered, for the Stubborn Ears of the Coming Crop, or Biscuits Baked in the Oven of Charity, Carefully Conserved for the Chickens of the Church, the Sparrows of the Spirit, and the Sweet Swallows of Salvation;" and "Seven Sobs of a Sorrowful Soul for Sin, or the Seven Penitential Psalms of the Princely Prophet David, whereunto are also annexed William Humuis's Handful of Honeysuckles and Divers Godly and Pithy Ditties, now Newly Augmented."

THE AUSTRALIAN BOOKTRADE PROTESTS AGAINST TARIFF ON ADVERTISEMENTS IN MAGAZINES.

THE booksellers of Australia and Tasmania on August 21 addressed the following communication to Sir W. Lyne, acting Premier and Treasurer of the Commonwealth of Australia, protesting against the new tariff regulations in regard to advertisements in magazines imported from England, America and other countries:

We, the under-mentioned Booksellers and News-agents of N. S. W. desire to bring under your notice the fact that the advertisements do not in any way benefit us, and that when they exceed—even by one page—the allotted one-fifth, i.e., 20 pages of advertisements to 80 pages of reading matter, the whole magazine is charged at 6d. a lb. This means the closing out from the Commonwealth of all the most popular of the Foreign, American, and British Magazines. We are convinced that in the framing of this section of the new Tariff, such a blow at the periodical literature was not intended, but the reading of the clause does not admit of any other interpretation.

Another aspect we desire to emphasize is the contract we enter into at the commencement of each year with those who subscribe to Newspapers and Magazines. This contract prevents us from increasing the price to subscribers, unless the Publisher advances the published price, and as a great part of our trade in N. S. W. is subscription the new Tariff affects our business very seriously in this section. For these reasons we ask you to allow four months to elapse before enforcing the duty on Advertisements to enable us to inform the Publishers, and confer with them as to what policy they propose to pursue in order to comply with the conditions of the tariff of August, 1907.

ONE HUNDRED GUINEAS FOR A NOVEL.

ENCOURAGED by his success of a few years ago with his first novel competition, T. Fisher Unwin has decided to repeat the experiment. He is offering a prize of a hundred guineas for the best original novel which shall be submitted to him by April 30, 1908. The conditions attaching to the competition are simple. No competitor must have had a novel published before, though a writer of a collection of short stories in volume form will not be excluded. Mr. Unwin will himself be the sole arbiter of merit, and competitors must, of course, be content to abide by his decision. He will also retain the right to publish any unsuccessful novels on terms to be arranged between himself and the authors.

BOOKBINDERS ON STRIKE.

THE strike of the bookbinders for the eight-hour workday went into effect on the 1st inst., 300 of the bookbinders, according to President Glockling, of the International Brotherhood of Bookbinders, quitting work in Manhattan and Brooklyn. An official of the Typothetæ said that no strikes had been ordered against any of its members, and so far as he could learn only a few were on strike against independent firms.

Bookbinders also went out in Albany to the number of 200, in Boston 200, in Detroit 130, and generally in Chicago and Minneapolis. The job-pressmen are expected to follow shortly.

BEST-SELLING FICTION IN AUGUST.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

WILLIAM DE MORGAN, the author of "Joseph Vance" and "Alice-for-Short," has another novel under way, to be entitled "Somehow Good."

RUDYARD KIPLING, accompanied by Mrs. Kipling, arrived on September 27 at Quebec. Mr. Kipling will remain in Montreal for a couple of weeks and then take a journey across Canada to the Pacific Coast.

THE Thomas Bailey Aldrich Memorial Fund is prospering with subscriptions ranging from modest sums to the one check for $1000 received by Houghton, Mifflin & Co. last week. Meanwhile Mrs. Aldrich and her son are considering establishing museums and memorial buildings and laying their plans carefully and deliberately.

OBITUARY NOTES.

ANNA CARNEY, for ten years connected with the book department of Wanamaker's New York store, died in Albany, N. Y., on September 23. Miss Carney was engaged when the Wanamaker store was opened here in 1896, when she was in her teens and had but slight knowledge of the book business. By industry and application she rose step by step, until she became a most valuable assistant. Her memory for authors, titles and publishers was almost phenomenal, and she was continually besieged by her associates and customers for information. Of a charming personality, sunny disposition and kindly manner she made friends easily.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

KARSLAKE & Co., 35 Pond St., Hampstead, London, have just ready the fourth and concluding part of v. 4 of their "Book Auction Records," edited by Frank Karslake. The part covers the period from July 1 to August 1, 1907, and records 1685 lots—the four parts containing a total of 15,131 records for the year. The literary matter prefixed to this part includes notes on the libraries and book-trade of Dublin, with a picture of Trinity College Library in Dublin, and a colored facsimile reprint of a portrait of Disraeli from the London Magazine of 1840.

VICTOR HUGO PALTSITS, New York State Historian, has printed for private distribution one hundred copies of his address before the American Antiquarian Society at its semi-annual meeting in Boston, April 17, 1907, on "The Almanacs of Roger Sherman." Mr. Paltsits describes minutely seven separate copies of the almanacs prepared and published from 1750 to 1761 by Roger Sherman, a signer of the Declaration of Independence. In an appendix Mr. Paltsits adds prose and poetical selections from the various almanacs and a complete collection of the sayings found in them. Altogether the pamphlet is an interesting as well as useful contribution to the literature on the subject of early American almanacs. (48 p. 8°, pap.)

MISS E. A. McFADDEN, Box 328, Cincinnati, O., announces "A Selected List of Plays for Amateurs," compiled by Miss McFadden and Lilian E. Davis, with an introduction by Ludella L. Peck, Professor of Elocution at Smith College. This bibliography consists of some three hundred and fifty titles of plays. It is divided into a general list, a list of plays for children, and a list of Christmas plays. It is further supplemented by appendices giving some twenty-eight plays for outdoor presentation and a smaller number of old English plays which are possible for amateurs. Sufficient imprint is given under each play to make perfectly clear where the work may be procured, the number of characters, time of presentation and scenery required. The whole has been carefully indexed. The basis of selection for the work has been high moral tone, literary value and genuine cleverness. The compilers desire "to emphasize the fact that it is not a mere rehash of the trade catalogues of theatrical publishers. It is the result of fourteen years' study of the subject, the greater part of that time being spent at Smith College and in the Public Library of Cincinnati. Every play included has been carefully read, while those read and discarded would make a book many times the size of the present volume. An especial effort has been made to note the dramatic works of the standard authors." (40 p. O. cl., $2 net.)

AUCTION SALES.

OCTOBER 15, 16, 10 A.M. and 2 P.M.—Library of the late Colonel Henry W. Wilson, of South Boston, Mass., with other consignments, comprising Napoleoniana, French Revolution, horticulture and landscape gardening, angling, etc. (1489 lots.)—Libbie.

OCTOBER 15, 16, 3 P.M.—Standard and miscellaneous books, including Americana, angling, bibliography, geology, etc. (642 lots.)—Merwin-Clayton.

OCTOBER 15-17, 10:30 A.M. and 2:30 P.M.—Library of the late Rev. Horace E. Hayden, librarian of the Wyoming Historical and Genealogical Society, including an unusual collection of State, county and town histories, many relating to Virginia and Pennsylvania, complete files of historical magazines, collections of historical societies, genealogies, rare and scarce works relating to the war between the States, etc.—Davis & Harvey, (Stan. V. Henkels, auctioneer.)

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY have ready this week "Poland, the Knight Among Nations," by Louis Van Norman, with an introduction by Helena Modjeska, a thorough study of the Polish nation by one of the ablest students of world politics among the younger men in America, who is associate editor of the American Review of Reviews.

THE REILLY & BRITTON Co. announce that the sales of their Teddy Bear books up to September 28 reached a total of 755,688 copies. On the same date "Little Johnny and the Teddy Bears" rounded out a sale of 30,241 copies. The entire first edition of 20,000 copies of "Ozma of Oz," L. Frank Baum's new book, has been sold out and a second issue is now on press.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. are publishing "The Unveiled East," by F. A. McKenzie; "Things Seen in Egypt," by Clive Holland; "The Sea-Charm of Venice," by Stopford A. Brooke; "The Life and Letters of Sir James Graham," by Charles Stuart Parker; "Microscopy—the construction, theory and use of the microscope," by Edmund J. Spitta; and a new edition of the "Life of Tennyson," by Arthur Christopher Benson.

B. W. DODGE & Co. will publish at once "The Noble Company of Adventurers," a boys' book, by Rufus Rockwell Wilson, author of "Sea Rovers," with illustrations by May Fratz; "A Bird Cage," a book of juvenile verse, by Wallace Irwin, author of "Love Sonnets of a Hoodlum," with drawings in color by Edna Morse; also, "The Light," a novel, by Mrs. Harold E. Gorst, with eight illustrations by A. J. Gough.

A. WESSELS COMPANY announce a "Life of Sir Richard Burton," by Walter Phelps Dodge, which the author has dedicated to President Roosevelt; "Father Felix Chronicles," a romance by Mrs. Chesson, whose hero the supposed writer of the narrative is a scribe belonging to the priory house of Norwich during 1400 and 1422; "The Sanitary Evolution of London," by Henry Jephson; also, Bloom's "Shakespeare's Church," with illustrations.

OSCAR W. BRADY, secretary of the McClure Company, has retired. Mr. Brady has been connected with the McClure firms since 1895, and was secretary, treasurer and business manager, when Harold Roberts about two years ago entered the firm and relieved Mr. Brady of some of the burden and detail of his work. Mr. Roberts will very likely add the duties of secretary to those of his office of treasurer which he now holds in the McClure Company.

L. C. PAGE & COMPANY have just ready "Hester of the Hills: a Tale of the Ozark Mountains," by Grover Clay. The doctrine of heredity is the target at which Mr. Clay aims. Actual life, as it has come under his observation, among the mountaineers in the Ozark Range, is shown without glamour or prejudice. They have also just published "Our Little Brazilian Cousin," by Mrs. Nixon-Roulet, the fourth and last volume of the Little Cousin Series for this year.

CASSELL & COMPANY, (W. B. Hadley, manager,) New York City, will publish shortly a specially illustrated edition of Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland," designed as a gift book for the holidays. A unique volume of stories, sketches and poems by various popular authors will be published at once under the name of "Harry Rountree's Annual," the illustrations in the book being by Harry Rountree, the well-known artist of Punch, Little Folks and other English periodicals.

IVAN SOMERVILLE & Co., 225 Fourth Avenue, New York City, have published "A Day-Dreamer's Harvest," a volume of "meditations" on life and the art of living, by Henry Byron; also, Emerson's essays on "Friendship, Heroism and Prudence," in the Birdalone Series, with decorations by Frederic W. Goudy. They will publish next month a limited edition of a sketch of Simeon Solomon, by Julia Ellsworth Ford, an "appreciation" of an artist of the English Pre-Raphaelite school, whose paintings and drawings won the admiration of Rossetti, Thackeray, Swinburne and others.

To stimulate the sale of their new work, "Country Homes and Gardens of Moderate Cost," John C. Winston Company will insert in each copy of the book entitling its purchaser to a year's subscription to House and Garden. The book is edited by Charles Francis Osborne, professor in the Architectural School of the University of Pennsylvania. Each design is the work of an architect of established reputation and the illustrations are from photographs taken after the houses were built. The House and Garden is a handsomely printed monthly instructive and interesting to the home-maker.

THE CENTURY Co. have just ready new novels by Anne Douglas Sedgwick and Helen R. Martin; "The Quest of the Colonial," by Robert and Elizabeth Shackleton; "A Tuscan Childhood," by Lisi Cipriani; and "The Red Reign," Kellogg Durland's record of a year's wanderings, adventure and observations in Russia. They will publish in the near future a series of historical volumes under the general editorship of Professor George Lincoln Burr, of Cornell University. There will be ten volumes in all, each by a specialist in the field of which he writes, but all working together to secure unity. It is designed that the series, when completed, form a history of the world from the viewpoint of modern scholarship, upon lines essentially new.

FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY have issued a dainty little story by Miss Margaret Hannis, which when running as a serial in The Circle magazine attracted considerable favorable attention because of an original idea which the author worked out in a very entertaining way. They have also just ready a new edition of "Stars of the Opera," by Mabel Wagnalls, with descriptive sketches of the plots and music of "Semiramide," "Faust," "Werther," "Carmen," "Lohengrin," "Aida," "The Huguenots," "The Flying Dutchman," "Hamlet," "Lakme," "Pagliacci," "Orpheus and Eurydice," and intimate personal chats with the leading opera prima donne. The new edition contains a considerable amount of new matter, including interviews with Mmes. Melba, Calve and Geraldine Farrar, also, a new analysis of "Madame Butterfly."

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. will bring out this month "The Letters of Queen Victoria," edited by A. C. Benson and Viscount Esher, published by authority of the king. It will be in three volumes, and will cover the queen's correspondence from childhood, terminating with the Prince Consort's life. Mr. Haggard's latest book, "Margaret," just brought out by Longmans, Green & Co., is a tale of love and adventure which is undoubtedly the best thing he has done since he left the field of romance and mysticism, and should add materially to his reputation as a novelist. The scene is laid in the England of Henry VII. and in Spain, where the heroine is held a prisoner at the Alhambra by a rejected Spanish lover, while her fiance pursues the abductor over sea and land with many thrilling encounters.

THE C. M. CLARK PUBLISHING Co., Boston, announce "Woodhull," a tale of love and war in pioneer days, by Pliny Berthier Seymour; "The Closed Balcony," a brightly written story for boys and girls, by Anne Gardner Hale; "An Up-to-Date Pauper," a society novel, the scenes of which are laid in Boston, by Helen Maude Wheeler; "The Steady Light," a helpful and inspiring philosophy of life, by Jennie Folsom Morrill; "Glenwood," a story of a young girl's life and fortunes, by Anna Katharine Whiting; "Southern Buds and Sons of War," a military story of social life in the great mansions and slave life on the plantations in the South at the close of the war, by Dr. William Henry Winslow; "Broken Links," a story, with scenes laid in the great coal regions of Pennsylvania, by Job Taylor; also, "Little Betty Marigold and Her Friends," a story of the flowers in an old-fashioned garden masquerading as real children, by Carro Frances Warren.

HENRY HOLT & COMPANY will publish shortly an important book of literary criticism entitled "The Greater English Poets of the Nineteenth Century," by Dr. William Morton Payne, well known for his lectures on English literature in the Universities of Chicago, Wisconsin and Kansas, and also as associate editor of The Dial, and the author or translator of a number of well-liked books, whose new work is a study of Keats, Shelley, Byron, Coleridge, Wordsworth, Landor, Browning, Tennyson, Arnold, Rossetti, Morris and Swinburne, rather more in their outlook upon life than in their strictly literary achievement. They were so encouraged by the success of "A Cheerful Year Book" for 1907, a humorous and illustrated diary with epigrams and verses by F. M. Knowles, pictures by C. F. Lester, and the whole introduced and concluded with profound and edifying remarks by Carolyn Wells, that they are preparing a new popular-priced edition for 1908 as a holiday gift book.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have just ready v. II. of the "Cyclopedia of American Agriculture," edited by Professor L. H. Bailey; "Lexicon to the Poetical Works of Milton," by Miss Laura E. Lockwood; "Railway Corporations as Public Servants," by Henry S. Haines; "Computation and Mensuration," by Professor Preston A. Lambert; "Love of Life," by Jack London; "British Colonial Policy, 1754-1765," by George Louis Beer; Smith's "New Writing Books," I.-VI.; "Theodore Roosevelt: the Boy and the Man," by James Morgan; v. II. (Alternating Currents) of "Elements of Electrical Engineering," by Professors Franklin and Esty; a new edition of "The Pruning Book," by Professor L. H. Bailey; a new edition of "The Diseases of Animals," by Professor Nelson S. Mayo; "The Iliad for Boys and Girls," by the Rev. A. J. Church; "The Church of the Knights Templars in London," by George Worley; "Scotland," by Elizabeth Grierson, in the series of Peeps at Many Lands; "Geographical Diagrams," by H. J. Snape; also, "The Americas," by J. B. Reynolds.

THE publishing season of the J. B. Lippincott Company has opened in earnest, and a number of important books were issued by this firm during last week. Two novels that will no doubt be heard from were among the newly published books. They are "The Affair at Pine Court," by Nelson Rust Gilbert, a tale of the Adirondacks, and "The Smugler," by Ella Middleton Tybout, whose last novel, "The Wife of the Secretary of State," created such a stir in diplomatic circles of Washington two years ago. Among their elaborately illustrated books suitable for holiday gifts are "The Pearl, its Story, its Charm, and its Value," by W. R. Cattelle, author of "Precious Stones;" "Poet's Country," edited by Andrew Lang, containing fifty full-page illustrations in color; "The Egyptian Sudan," by E. A. Wallis Budge; "Under the Syrian Sun," by A. C. Inchbold, with forty full-page colored plates, and eight black and white drawings; "Gods and Heroes of Old Japan," by Violet M. Pasteur, with original drawings on every page, and four charming illustrations in color; "Lotus Land," by P. A. Thompson, containing a colored frontispiece and numerous illustrations and drawings; also, a new novel by Rosa N. Carey, entitled "The Angel of Forgiveness."

JOHN LANE COMPANY will publish at once a special double number of The International Studio which will contain a most complete series of reproductions, in photogravure and in colors, of Rembrandt's paintings, etchings and studies, edited by Emil Michel; also, "Whistler: Notes and Footnotes, and Other Memoranda," by A. E. G., containing essays upon Whistler, while Leonardo da Vinci and Puvis de Chavannes as caricaturists, Bernard Boutet de Monvel, Beardsley, Everett Shinn and Child Hassam suggest the range of the other papers, with numerous plates of an unusual character, including two hitherto unpublished works by Whistler, one of which, a unique study of flowers, is reproduced in colors. They announce for the fall a definite and sumptuously illustrated edition of "The Poems of Samuel Taylor Coleridge," in which will be included poems hitherto unpublished in book form; "The Memoirs of Ann, Lady Fanshawe," reprinted from the original manuscript now in the possession of Evelyn John Fanshawe, of Parsloes, with chronological table, scholarly notes, and family tree showing the pedigree of the Fanshawe family, and thirty-eight full-page illustrations, including photogravure and colored plates; a new volume from the pen of Vernon Lee, entitled "The Sentimental Traveller," in which the gifted author takes her readers through Germany, France and Switzerland; also, "Ornithological and Other Oddities," a work on natural history, with pictures reproduced from photographs of studies of living birds and rare animals.

SMALL, MAYNARD & Co. have brought out an important work on the subject of psychical research in "Mysterious Psychic Forces," by the noted French astronomer, Camille Flammarion. In the present volume the author has comprehensively reviewed the work done by European scientists in their attempt to investigate unknown forces, treating especially of what in psychical research is classified as physical phenomena, such as telekinesis—the movement of objects not due to any known force—and other allied phenomena, including raps, visible as well as tangible appearances, etc. The book furnishes detailed records of Professor Flammarion's own study of the celebrated medium, Eusapia Paladino, who has now been under scientific observation for thirty years. It also contains accounts of the investigations of such men as Professors Charles Richet, Cæsar Lombroso, Enrico Morselli, Porro, Thiory, Aksakof, Sir William Crookes, Sir Alfred Russel Wallace and many others. The author says that "the work will prove indisputably the objective reality of the phenomena produced by 'mediums' and the existence of psychic forces and of a dynamic world in the bosom of which we are plunged." They have also just ready a new novel by H. A. Mitchell Keays, entitled "The Road to Damascus." Like her former book, "He That Eateth Bread with Me," the present one is of a mildly sensational nature. The scene is laid around Detroit and Ann Arbor, and the university in the latter place comes in for much criticism.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have just ready a new book by Myrtle Reed, author of "The Master's Violin," etc., entitled "Love Affairs of Literary Men," in which the author has briefly retold the stories of the lovers of a group of writers who are assured, all of them, of immortal places in English literature—the mysterious double love affair of Swift with Stella and Vanessa, of Pope's almost grotesque attempts at the rôle of lover, of Dr. Johnson's ponderous affections, of Sterne's sentimental philanderings, and of Cowper's relation with the fair sex. We are told, too, of the loves of Keats and Shelley, a story in the former case distressingly painful, in the latter a tale in which the tragic and the joyous are woven in a mingled web. Here, too, we meet Edgar Allan Poe as a lover; and we read of Carlyle's wooing, and peruse the unpleasant, but not uninteresting, chronicle of his married life, which resulted so unhappily for Mrs. Carlyle. They have also just ready "Pleasures of Literature," by Robert Aris Willmott, a volume written by a life-long lover of books for book lovers and writers; "Goldsmiths' and Silversmiths' Work," by Nelson Dawson, a new volume in the handsome Connoisseurs' Library; "Law, its origin, growth and function," by Dr. James Coolidge Carter, which is not a technical treatise upon any branch of the law, of interest only to the professional reader, but a comprehensive study of its origin and development as a science and of its influence and function as a powerful force in the civilization of mankind; "The Golden Staircase," poems for children, selected by Louey Chisholm, with illustrations in color by M. Dibdin Spooner; a new volume by Arthur Christopher Benson, entitled "The Altar Fire," which takes the form of a diary and might either be called fictitious narrative that threatens continually to become a series of connected essays, or of essays on the point of turning into a tranquil introspective narration that needs no complication of plot to hold firmly the reader's attention; "The Folk Afield," by Eden Phillpotts, author of "Sons of the Morning," etc., a collection of short stories of the humble folk of a dozen rationalities; "The Princess Nadine," by Christian Reid, author of "The Man of the Family," etc., a dramatic story of a charming group of women and an interesting company of men, most of them belonging to the great world of rank or the brilliant world of fashion, the scene of which is laid largely in Italy; also, two volumes of a new series of Elbert Hubbard's Little Journeys, "To the Homes of Eminent Artists" and "To the Homes of Eminent Orators."

BUSINESS NOTES.

COALINGA, CAL.—C. B. Rourke has succeeded to T. M. Crum, bookseller.

NEW YORK CITY.—R. E. Sherwood's store on Fulton Street is making way for a "skyscraper," and the Sherwood staff has been hustling for a week or more to house their stock in a store at 21 Beekman Street, where the band will soon strike up again the strains that drew so many thousands every hour into the old store. Those on the mail order list will receive the same prompt and efficient "absent treatment" as heretofore.

NEW YORK CITY.—Ivan Somerville, some time connected with the Morgan Shepard Co., has established himself in the publishing business at 225 Fourth Avenue, under the firm name of Ivan Somerville & Co. They will also supply the trade with the publications of the Morgan Shepard Co., from which Mr. Shepard has retired, and which expects to resume active business some time next spring. They have also been appointed exclusive agents for the Village Press limited editions.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.—The Presbyterian Board of Publication, whose bookstore here was destroyed in the great earthquake and fire, after a sojourn in Berkeley has returned to San Francisco, having leased the first floor of 400 Sutter Street, at the corner of Stockton. W. H. Webster, recently with A. C. McClurg, and for many years with the Western Methodist Book Concern in Chicago, is the manager of the new bookstore.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print of five nonpareil lines, exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small undisplayed advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their Communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash.]

Write your wants plainly, and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay" book-sellers should take the usual precautions, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

JUST OUTHis Own People*By BOOTH TARKINGTON

Author of "Monsieur Beaucaire," "The Conquest of Canaan," etc.

THIS book is easily the most beautiful and fascinating novelette of the season. It is written with the charm that made the author of "Monsieur Beaucaire" and "The Conquest of Canaan" famous. It is the story of a young Ohio traveler and the first Countess he ever met—and his plunge into what he fondly believes to be the upper circles of Continental Society.

The first Countess the young traveler from Ohio had ever met.

There are colored lining pages by St. John Harper, and Mazzanovich has made some of the most telling pictures in color that have appeared lately.

THE BIRTH AND INFANCY OF JESUS CHRIST

A Critical and Exegetical Essay

By REV. LOUIS MATTHEWS SWEET, M.A.

Price $1.50 net, postage 12 cents.

A book "marked by very great qualities, impartiality, independence of mind, freshness of presentation, fullness of knowledge, and clearness of statement."

—Prof. A. M. Fairbairn of Oxford.

NATURE THE MIRROR OF GRACE

Studies of Seven Parables

By ROBERT ELLIS THOMPSON, S.T.D.

Price 75 cents net, postage 6 cents.

"Seven sermons marked by restraint, scientific knowledge of nature and a heart-experience of grace. They are not only illuminating; they are practical."

—Lutheran Observer.

"However familiar the reader may be with the parables of the Great Teacher, he will find in this book a wealth of meaning not perceived before."

—The Westminster.

THE BOOK OF COMMON WORSHIP

Prepared by the Committee of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America.

For Voluntary Use.

Large Type, price 75 cents, postpaid. In quantities, 50 cents, delivery extra. Full leather, $1.50, postpaid.

Smaller Type, 35 cents, postpaid. In quantities, 25 cents, delivery extra. Full leather, $1.00, postpaid.

The book as a whole exhibits the most painstaking carefulness and thoughtful workmanship. Its selections are well chosen, its suggestions practical; its language is ever dignified and devotional; its doctrinal implications are in full accord with the standards of the church, and the completed work is to be regarded as an accomplishment deserving the grateful recognition of our Communion and the respect of the Christian world.

—From the Princeton Theological Review.

HISTORY OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCHES OF THE WORLD

By PROF. R. C. REED, D.D.

Price $1.25 net, postage 12 cents.

"Dr. Reed has done an excellent work by writing this book, which supplies an actual need in the field of Church history. As it should be, the latter development of Presbyterianism is most fully treated. To this outline is added a brief review of Canadian and British colonial Presbyterianism, with an appendix of statistical matter and a full and very good index. The style is pure and clear; the interest of the reader is maintained to the last."

THE MARKS OF A MAN; OR, THE ESSENTIALS OF A CHRISTIAN CHARACTER

The Merrick Lectures for 1906-07.

By ROBERT E. SPEER, M.A.

Price $1.00 net, postage 10 cents.

"A multitude will find in these lectures a mighty impulse to higher living. They present a working plan of life, set forth with clearness, with practicalness, and with convincing passion and power."

—New York Observer.

FIRST AID TO THE BOOKSELLER

IN SEARCH OF CHRISTMAS TRADE

AT this busy season every live bookseller is considering plans for holiday cataloging. The question with him is how to make his Christmas announcements with dignity and effect without spending too much time and money in the production of an attractive catalog.

This problem is fully answered in the use of "The Christmas Bookshelf" (the Christmas number of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY) with the dealer's own imprint. It is a magazine-catalog of about 240 pages, copiously illustrated with specimen illustrations from the best books of the year. It contains a most attractive assemblage of the best new issues of all the publishers, with ample descriptive notices. A feature is the carefully prepared purchase list, which, with the publishers' own advertisements, gives a comprehensive survey of about all a bookseller would be likely to keep in stock during the holiday season.

It is a Christmas Catalog your customers would feel flattered in receiving!

The price, for editions with the bookseller's own imprint, is based on cost of paper and press work only, without counting cost of composition, and is, therefore, much below the cost of a catalog made by any bookseller for himself.

"BETH NORVELL"

"IT'S exciting, all right. The whole story keeps you forgetting to draw every third or fourth breath. You just can't lay the book down after things are once fairly oiled up and going. Mr. Parrish is gifted with the precious knack of swift and thrilling narrative. He keeps you reading on breathlessly, even after you know perfectly well how the plot is going to come out. This is a live story, a good red romance, a first-rate novel of love and action."

ISSUED FROM

THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY OFFICE

The Publishers' Weekly

Recognized as the representative of the publishing and bookselling interests in the United States. Contains full weekly record of American publications, with monthly indexes, cumulated quarterly, news of interest concerning the book trade, lists of "Book Wanted," (an advertising feature which each subscriber can use without charge to the extent of 100 lines per year,) etc., etc. Subscription, $4.00 a year; to foreign countries, $5.00 a year.

The American Catalog, 1900-1905

Vol. I contains a five-year cumulation, Jan. 1, 1900-Jan. 1, 1905, giving in one alphabet, by author, title and subject, information of the books issued during the years covered by this period. It also contains a directory of over 3800 publishers, with street addresses. 8vo, half morocco, $7.50.

Vol. II or Supplementary volume gives the full-title entries with annotations printed in the Weekly Record of The Publishers' Weekly, cumulated into an alphabet for each year, i.e., into five alphabets 1900, 01, 02, 03, 04. This is planned to answer the demand of such libraries, bookdealers, and others as want the full material of The Publishers' Weekly bibliographical system in available shape. 8vo, half morocco, $7.50. The set of two, $15.

Of the previous series of THE AMERICAN CATALOGUE, quarto size, the earlier volumes are out of print. We have remaining a few copies of the volumes 1890-95 and 1895-1900, bound in half morocco, $15.00 each.

The Annual American Catalog

Contains in one alphabet a record of all books published during 1905, under author, title, subject and series entries; also under author's name an alphabetical list of the same titles with descriptive annotations from The Publishers' Weekly, etc. 8vo, cloth, $3.00.

Same catalog for 1906, uniform binding, $3.00.

The Publishers' Trade List Annual

Contains the latest catalogues of upward of 200 American publishers, contributed by themselves and arranged alphabetically by the firm-names, with smaller lists, fully indexed, at the end of the volume, indispensable to every one who has any interest in the sale or purchase of books. Large 8vo, cloth, $2.00.

Index to the Publishers' Trade List Annual, 1902, out of print.

The Supplementary Index, 1903-1904, 500 pages, 8vo, cloth, with thumb index, $3.00. The alphabet in this volume is supplementary to the original Index of 1902.

The American Educational List

Contains a price-list of the text-books in use in the United States, arranged alphabetically by author's or editor's name, and a detailed subject-index, referring from each specific subject to authors of books on that subject. (Published annually.) 8vo, leatherette, 50 cents.

Whitaker's Reference Catalogue of Current Literature, 1906. (London, J. Whitaker & Sons.)

(The trade price-lists of all the British publishers.) 2 vols., half leather binding, $5.00.

The Library Journal

Chiefly devoted to library economy and bibliography. Established in 1876. Published monthly. Subscription $4.00 a year, postpaid; single numbers, 35 cents. Price to Europe or other countries in the Union, 16s. a year; single numbers, 1s. 6d.

The Library Index to Periodicals and Current Events

Published monthly, with a quarterly cumulation (indexing the periodicals taken in most libraries, large and small). Subscription, $3.00 per year. Single monthly numbers, 25 cents; quarterly numbers, 50 cents each.

The Annual Library Index

Including Periodicals, American and English; Essays, Book Chapters, etc., Bibliographies, Necrology and Index to Dates of Principal Events. Edited, with the co-operation of members of the American Library Association and of The Library Journal staff, by W. I. FLETCHER and H. E. HAINES. (Published annually.) 8vo, cloth, $3.50.

English Catalogue of Books (Annual)

Containing a complete list of all the books published in Great Britain and Ireland in the calendar year, with index to subjects. 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

English Catalogue of Books, 1901-1905

The record of these five years in one continuous alphabet. (Seventh volume of series.) 8vo, half morocco, $20.00.

Directory of Publishers

Contains names and addresses of 3876 firms and individuals who issued books in the U. S. from Jan. 1, 1900 to Jan. 1, 1905. (Reprinted from The American Catalog.) 8vo, leatherette, red edges, $1.00.

The Profession of Bookselling

A handbook of practical hints for the apprentice and bookseller. By A. GROWOLL, managing editor of The Publishers' Weekly, author of "A Bookseller's Library," "Three Centuries of English-Booktrade Bibliography," etc. Parts 1 and 2. 8vo, boards, each $2.00. (Concluding part in preparation.)

The Anderson Auction Company,

SUCCESSOR TO BANGS & CO.,

No. 5 West 29th Street, New York.

Season 1907-8.

On account of the unusually large accumulation of consignments during the past Summer we were obliged to begin our Fall Sales on September 23rd. During the previous week we published in the daily papers announcements of thirty sales, chiefly of Private Libraries and Collections from the consignments then on hand.

The offer of so many interesting and important Collections at the commencement of the Season is probably without precedent in the history of Book Auctions in America, and insures a year of unusual interest to buyers and collectors.

This Company (with its predecessor, Bangs & Co.) has had an uninterrupted business career of seventy-five years' duration, and has conducted to successful issues the bulk of all the important sales of literary property held in America during that period. It refers with confidence in its large clientele of consignors and its unequalled list of buyers throughout the country. It begins the present season with a better organization and larger facilities than ever before and its business will be conducted with absolute fidelity to the interests of both buyer and consignor.

Full details of the sales already announced, and catalogues when issued, will be sent upon request. Executors and Administrators of Estates having Libraries to sell, Librarians, Publishers and Booksellers are invited to correspond with us. Write for terms and other information.

FOUR NEW BIG NOVELS AND A "BEST SELLER"

A TRULY AMERICAN NOVEL—JUST ISSUED

The Affair at Pine Court

By Nelson Rust Gilbert. A tale of love and mystery taking place at Pine Court, the Adirondack residence of a wealthy New Yorker. An intense, exciting story of living people in a setting that the author knows at first hand.

Three full-page illustrations in color by Frank H. Desch.
12mo. Decorated Cloth, $1.50

A DIVERTING NOVEL—JUST ISSUED

The Smuggler

By Ella Middleton Tybout. This new novel, by the author of "The Wife of the Secretary of State," and "Poke-town People," is a blithesome story which does not deal with pirates and smugglers of the past, but humorously relates the hair-raising things that happen to three American girls upon an island in Canada.

Illustrated in color by Howard Everett Smith.
12mo. Decorated Cloth, $1.50

A CAPTIVATING ROMANCE—2ND EDITION

Beau Brocade

By Baroness Orczy, author of "The Scarlet Pimpernel," "I Will Repay," etc. This quickly moving, well-planned tale of a brave and picturesque army officer, unjustly cashiered and dismissed from the service, will keep many a well-seasoned romance reader awake. It is an ingenious and well-written book, with the interest kept up at an intense pitch.

Four full-page illustrations in color by Clarence F. Underwood.
12mo. Decorated Cloth, $1.50

A STIRRING MODERN STORY—2ND EDITION

When Kings Go Forth to Battle

By William Wallace Whitelock. A modern story in a setting of love and adventure, involving a thrilling change of rulers mainly through the instrumentality of two Americans—the hero and heroine. This story is capitably written, and there is romance, sentiment and comedy woven into an effective entirety. The charm of Eunice is real and powerful.

Three full-page illustrations in color by Frank H. Desch.
12mo. Decorated Cloth, $1.50

AND

ONE OF THE SIX BEST-SELLING NOVELS

Beatrice of Clare

By John Reed Scott. The success of the summer.

Four full-page illustrations in color by Clarence F. Underwood.
12mo. Decorated Cloth, $1.50
